January's Character Trait is - Forgiveness

- * The definition of forgiveness is to let go of your bad feelings for others when they hurt you. You develop real character when you learn how to forgive others.
- * Sometimes people might hurt your feelings. It could be an accident or it could have been done on purpose. As hard as it may be to forgive someone for hurting you, your forgiveness is very important to help him or her feel better.
- * "Forgiveness does not change the past, but it does enlarge the future." --Paul Boese
